100,000,000 People

Malaysian Union?

By FREDERICK COLEMAN
(Reuters)

The concept of a Malaysian union, with a population of more than 100,000,000 people of the same ethnic stock, again is being discussed in Southeast Asia.

The idea, mentioned most recently by Judge Bocobo of the Philippines, has advocates in his country as well as in Indonesia and Malaya.

* * *

The people of these three lands spring from the same basic stock. The languages, Tagalog in the Philippines, Bahasa in Indonesia and Malaya, have many similarities as have many aspects of their cultural development.

The first of the Malaysian peoples are thought to have migrated from what is now China, where they were aboriginal tribesmen. They can be traced in their wanderings through Burma, Thailand, the Malay Peninsula, the Celebes, Sumatra and the Philippines.

* * *

Over the centuries, many different influences have played their part and in some respects the inhabitants of the three countries now vary. For example, the Hindu influences which helped to mould the Malay and Indonesian races were little felt in the Philippines.

Similarly, the presence of Spaniards in the Philippines altered that race, while European influence has had comparatively little effect on the Malays and Indonesians.

The majority of Malays and Indonesians are Moslems, converted by Arab missionaries. In the Philippines, a strong Moslem influence is present, although modified by the Roman Catholic religion brought by the Spaniards.

* * *

In all the countries, there have been Chinese immigrants. While they remained a minority in the Philippines and Indonesia, they have become the second largest racial group in Malaya.

Judge Cocobo declared recently: "Our common blood is more significant than our geographical boundaries."

* * *

Interest in the concept has been renewed following a recent visit which Tunku (Prince) Abdul Rahman, Malaya's prime minister, made to the Philippines.

Although markedly anti-Communist, the Tunku has refused to join the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, of which the Philippines is a member.

Nor will he sign any other anti-Communist pact in Southeast Asia, on the grounds that such groupings would tend to disrupt relations between southeast Asian countries, some of which are neutralist, some of which recognize Communist China and some of which allow local Communist parties to be formed.

However, he has been a supporter of any move to develop greater economic and cultural co-operation among the non-Communist nations of the area.

* * *

In recent discussions with Flexiberto Serrano, the secretary for foreign affairs of the Philippines, the Tunku is understood to have called for an early meeting of Southeast Asian leaders to further the idea of co-operation, in the belief that it would be a more effective method of countering communism than any system of military defence pacts.

Southeast Asia, most of whose countries have become independent since the Second World War, has not so far been an entity. Different countries have their traditional markets in various parts of the world and their links with the West have tended to be with those European countries which controlled them.

A Malaysian union could, many people in Southeast Asia believe, be the foundation on which a fully co-operative, economically-powerful Southeast Asia could rest, with at least some degree of independence from the rest of the world.

Timekeeper Stopped Bout, Suspended

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A timekeeper who stopped a fight because he counted to 10 when the referee was at nine has been suspended for 60 days by the Texas State Boxing Commission.

Saul Paredes was suspended for stopping the Roy Harris and John Hunt fight in the fifth round last Tuesday.

Paredes claimed it was a knockout. Referee Young Amado said he counted only to nine before Hunt was back on his feet.

"Harris still wins the fight but all you can do is give him credit for a five-round decision," boxing commissioner Alton Erickson said.

MCC Tourists Defeat Aussies

WAGGA WAGGA, Australia —The touring English MCC cricket side Monday beat Southern New South Wales by seven wickets in a one-day match, dismissing the Australians for 117 and scoring 220 for eight in reply.

The English team was without two of its members, fast bowlers Peter Loader and Brian Statham, who were injured Sunday in a car accident. Statham was bruised around the neck and shoulders while Loader had three stitches taken in his bowling arm.

Peter Richardson was top scorer for the tourists yesterday with 77 in two hours. Willie Watson made 63 and John Mortimore 44. Jim Laker was top bowler for Marylebone, taking four for 22.

MILAN—Three hundred factory workers want their employer exempted from military service. They say they'll lose their jobs, if their employer, Antonio Contardo, 24, went into the army.

NEW YORK—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin was treated to a ticker tape parade up lower Broadway yesterday.
